

Notice of Resignation or Retirement

Advanced notice of resignation or retirement is a professional courtesy that permits the University to plan for transition and avoid being caught off guard by unexpected staff and faculty departures. Clemson University encourages employees who have decided to resign or retire to provide advance notice to the University once you have made a final decision. Thank you for helping Clemson plan for the future.

Resigning or retiring employees are asked to submit this form to your supervisor to tender your resignation/retirement.
