OPENING TIPOFF

- Furman begins the 2019-20 season on the road Wednesday evening traveling to Clemson for a 7:00 p.m. tipoff at Littlejohn Coliseum.
- The Paladins and Tigers are meeting for the 28th time in program history.
- Clemson leads the all-time series 23-4 dating back to the 1975-76 season.
- Furman won the last meeting between the two teams, 70-49, back during the 2015-16 season in Greenville.
- The Paladins enter the 2019-20 season as the favorite to win the Southern Conference by the league's head coaches and were picked second by the media. Furman received a total of six first-place votes in the preseason coaches poll and five in the preseason media poll.
- LeJzae Davidson and Celena Taborn were both selected as the Paladins' representatives on the Preseason All-Southern Conference Team.
- Furman is coming off its second appearance in program history in the Women's National Invitational Tournament (WNIT) last season after going 19-14 overall.
- The Paladins appeared in the Southern Conference Women's Basketball Championship game last season, falling to Mercer 66-63.
- Davidson was a First Team All-SoCon performer in 2018-19 by the media and Second Team by the coaches while Taborn was a consensus Second Team All-SoCon selection.
- Milica Manojlovic was also recognized on the Southern Conference All-Freshman Team.
- Furman returns four starters from last year's team in Davidson, Taborn, Manojlovic and Taylor Petty.
- In total, the Paladins welcome back 12 letterwinners while bringing in three freshmen newcomers.
- Head coach Jackie Carson currently sits six wins away from 150 in her career.

ORIGIN OF THE PALADIN

Furman University athletic teams were known by different names until the 1961 school year. The baseball team was "Hornets," the football team "Hurricane," and the basketball team "Paladins."

The basketball team was dubbed "Paladins" by a Greenville sportswriter in the 1930s. By vote of the student body, all Furman athletic teams became the "Paladins" on September 15, 1961. A Paladin is a knight on a horse and the recognized mascot of Furman University's athletic teams.

Furman Tabbed Preseason Favorites in Southern Conference

The Paladins were picked to win the Southern Conference by the league's head coaches while the media tabbed Furman to finish in second place behind defending champion Mercer.

The Paladins received six of the eight first-place votes in the pre-season coaches poll and earned a total of 48 points.

In the media poll, Furman tallied 90 points and five first-place votes.

Davidson, Taborn Named Preseason All-Southern Conference

Furman senior LeJae Davidson and junior Celena Taborn were both selected Preseason All-Southern Conference.

Davidson was named First Team All-Southern Conference last season by the media and earned Second Team honors from the coaches. She led the team in scoring with 16.4 points per game, which was fourth-best in the league. Davidson ranked first in the conference in free throw percentage (.844) and 3-point field goals made (84). She enters the season as Furman's all-time leader in 3-pointers made with 235.

Taborn was a consensus Second Team All-Southern Conference selection last season. She finished second on the team in scoring with 11.5 points per game while contributing 5.6 rebounds per contest. Taborn led the Southern Conference in field goal percentage at 64.2 percent, which set a new single-season program record.

Paladins Return to Their Roots, Downtown Greenville, with "Weekends at the Well"

Furman returns to downtown Greenville in 2019-20 as it will host one "Weekends at the Well" date in conjunction with the men's basketball program.

The Paladins face Samford at Bon Secours Wellness Arena on Saturday, January 11, with tipoff scheduled for 4:30 p.m.

Pierre Curtis Promoted to Associate Head Coach

Head coach Jackie Carson announced on October 4 that Pierre Curtis had been promoted to Associate Head Coach of the women's basketball program.

Curtis, who also serves as the program's recruiting coordinator, is entering his seventh season with the Paladins.

Furman has had at least one SoCon All-Conference and All-Freshman Team selection in each of his previous six seasons. The program's last two recruiting classes have been ranked second and third, respectively, in the conference by All Star Girls Reports.

During his time with the Paladins, Curtis has developed and coached some of the best guards to ever play at Furman including Holli Wilkins (2012-16), Whitney Bunn (2013-17), Cierra Carter (2014-18) and LeJae Davidson (2016-Present). All four have been named All-SoCon multiple times with Bunn (fifth), Wilkins (sixth) and Carter (tenth) finishing their careers ranked in the top-10 in scoring.

Head Coach Jackie Carson

It didn't take long for Jackie Carson to put her stamp on Furman women's basketball. In fact, it took less than a season.

Now nine years into her tenure, Furman's women's basketball program is firmly established as a quality competitor in the Southern Conference.

Solidly entrenched as head coach at her alma mater, for which she once starred as a player, Carson has revitalized a program that suffered through five straight losing seasons prior to her arrival.

In her first year the Paladins, bereft of any Carson recruiting additions and a SoCon coaches preseason No. 10 pick, started 6-3 in league play, highlighted by a home win over eventual league regular season champion Appalachian State. By winning five of its final six games to finish with 14 victories, thereby doubling the program's win total from the year before, Furman leaped from 11th to fifth place in the standings and jumped from a 4-16 league mark to a 10-10 SoCon ledger, making the Paladins to league's most improved team in 2010-11.

The strides continued in year two as Furman, with only one senior starter and a host of newcomers, again won 10 league games, including a 75-61 triumph over Chattanooga in Greenville that halted an embarrassing series losing skid to the Mocs. In addition, the Paladins defeated Conference USA member Marshall and picked up their first SoCon Tournament victory under Carson.

In 2012-13 the Paladins, challenged by injuries to key performers, added to their list of advances under Carson by taking down Samford in Greenville for the first time and knocking off Elon in Timmons Arena in a thrilling late season contest.

Five years ago the big dividend arrived with Furman's 18-11 season, highlighted by an 11-2 home record and second place league finish — the program's best in over a decade. In addition, the Paladins produced two All-SoCon first team selections for the first time since the 2004-05 season and landed a bid to the NIT — another program first. Those accomplishments netted Carson consensus coach of the year honors, making her the first person in league women's basketball history to garner both player of the year and coach of the year accolades.

The success continued the following year as the Paladins went 19-14 and earned the program's first bid in the Women's Basketball Invitation Tournament (WBIT), and in 2015-16 Furman won 15 games, including a road triumph over Richmond and home victory over Clemson. Two years ago the Paladins dealt Chattanooga, the eventual SoCon Tournament champion, their first league loss of the season with a 65-48 triumph in Greenville, halting the Mocs' seven-game winning streak, and this past year Furman notched its first season sweep of Chattanooga since the 2001-02 campaign on the way to a second round appearance in the WBIT.

That Carson could quickly transform Furman's basketball fortunes may have surprised many but not those who know her and appreciate the young mentor's talent and commitment to recruiting, on-the-floor coaching, preparation, intensity, execution, and overall passion for the game. It is those same qualities, underscored by a deep and abiding dedication to her players and to their athletic and intellectual development, that has many fans of the purple and white sold on the future of Paladin women's basketball.

After bringing in a solid recruiting class in her first year that included 2011-12 SoCon Freshman of the Year forward Brittany Hodges, Carson's second recruiting haul stoked the embers of excitement by including 2012-13 SoCon Freshman of the Year forward Holli Wilkins, who graduated as Furman's fifth all-time leading scorer. Among the newcomers featured in her third class was standpoint point guard Whitney Bunn, a consensus three-time All-SoCon selection who blew away Furman's assist standards on the way to brilliant career that saw her finish as the Paladins' fifth all-time leading scorer (1,538 points) despite suffering a career ending injury seven game prior to season's end.

This past year Furman produced three All-SoCon performers for only the second time in program history. The trio of standouts included forward Cierra Carter, who finished her career as the program's 10th all-time leading scorer (1,383 points) and fifth in rebounding, guard Le'Jzae Davidson, and forward Celena Taborn, who registered a superb freshman campaign averaging 12.0 ppg and 5.8 rpg.

All told during Carson's tenure Furman has produced 11 all-conference performers, four all-tournament players, two freshmen of the year, and seven SoCon All-Freshman Team selections.

Carson, a Woodbridge, Va., native, and 2000 Furman graduate who served as an assistant coach at James Madison University for five seasons (2006-10), including the final two as associate head coach and last four as recruiting coordinator, was named Furman's ninth head coach in April of 2010.

During Carson's five-year tenure at James Madison, the Dukes posted a 125-40 record (.758), including a 74-16 mark (.822) in the Colonial Athletic Association (CAA), and advanced to postseason tournament play each year. The string of postseason berths included NCAA Tournaments in 2007 and '10, as well as Women's National Invitation Tournament (WNIT) appearances in 2006, '08, and '09.

In 2009-10 the Dukes went 26-7 overall and 16-2 in CAA action en route to league regular season and tournament championships. Among the noteworthy wins were triumphs over nationally 13th-ranked Virginia (75-73), Georgetown (79-76), and Virginia Tech (66-59).

In 2007, in her second season on staff, James Madison posted a 27-6 slate and advanced to the NCAA Tournament after a regular season that featured wins over Clemson and Wake Forest.

That same year she was among a select number of coaches chosen to participate in the Black Coaches Association's "Achieving Coaching Excellence" program. The program, for ethnic minority male and female basketball coaches, is a collaborative effort of the BCA, the NCAA Office of Diversity and Inclusion, the NCAA Minority Opportunities and Interests Committee, and the NCAA Committee on Women's Athletics.

It was during her time at James Madison that Carson gained notoriety on the national level with a "Rising Star" Award, presented to five associate or assistant coaches by BasketballScoop.com and ONS Performance in recognition of recruiting, player development, team development/scouting, leadership, and administration.

Prior to going to James Madison, she spent two seasons as an assistant coach and recruiting coordinator at Bucknell (2004-05). In her short tenure there she played a key role in recruiting Patriot League All-Rookie Team honorees Hope Foster and Kesha Champion, who went on to garner league player of the year and defensive player of the year honors, respectively, while leading the Bison to a 20-11 campaign and Patriot League crown in 2007.

Carson began her coaching career as an assistant with the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) Fairfax (Va.) Stars, helping the squad, which featured future collegiate stars Marissa Coleman (Maryland), Brittany Mitch (Duke), Abby Robertson (Virginia), and Laura Haskins (Virginia Tech), to the 2003 15-Under AAU National Championship.

One of the finest players in Furman women's basketball history, she led the Paladins in scoring and rebounding and earned first team All-Southern Conference honors and team MVP accolades as a sophomore, junior, and senior. The standout forward was named SoCon Player of the Year in 1998 & '99 and served as team captain her final two seasons. She also garnered three SoCon Academic Honor Roll tabs.

As a freshman, she helped Furman to a SoCon regular season championship and as a senior keyed the Paladins to a 20-11 season, SoCon Tournament championship, and the program's second NCAA Tournament appearance.

Many of her statistics rank among the finest ever posted by a Paladin, including points (1,920/2nd), points per game (16.8/4th), rebounds (1,057/2nd), rebounds per game (9.3/7th), and blocks (99/4th). She scored a school record 37 points against Middle Tennessee State her junior year, and her 724 career free throws and 52 double-doubles (points-rebounds) are still program standards, as are her 12 SoCon Player of the Week scrolls.

Honored as Furman's 1999 Edna Hartness Female Athlete of the Year, she was inducted into the University's Athletic Hall of Fame in 2005 in her first year of eligibility and in November of 2009 became only the third player in program history to have her jersey (No. 22) retired.

Following graduation in 2000 with a degree in health and exercise science, she played for professional teams in Belgium and Israel for two years before entering the coaching ranks.

Carson and husband, Rob, who serves as Assistant Athletic Director/Assistant Director of Academic Assistance, have two daughters — Londyn Elaun Carson, 7, and Lathyn Ellea Carson, 5.
