LAST TIME OUT

-Queens is coming off a 84-65 loss at Mercer on Tuesday night running their winless streak on the road to 0-6. Despite the loss, Deyton Albury and AJ McKee were solid on the offensive end pouring in 17 points and 16 points, respectively. The Royals struggled to contain Jalyn McCreary and Jalen Cobb as the pair posted double-doubles. McCreary poured in 30 points while bringing down 12 rebounds and Cobb added 14 points and 10 rebounds.

-The Royals struggled in the first half in all facets of their offense. Queens shot a season-low 25 percent from the field and only cashed in on 59 percent of their attempts from the charity stripe in the first 20 minutes.

-Queens lost the battle on the glass 38-31 and fell to 1-4 this year when being outrebounded by their opponent.

-Mercer erupted for a 27-4 run in the first half to grab a commanding 42-21 advantage.

STATS TO KNOW

-Queens will continue their road stretch still searching for their first true road victory of the year. The Royals last road win came at Kennesaw State on February 18th last season.

-The clash at Clemson will be the Royals first matchup with an ACC opponent in Division 1, and second against a power five program after facing Nebraska last season. The Huskers took down the Royals 75-65 inside Pinnacle Bank Arena.

-Friday night will be the second time ever that the Royals have played Clemson. The two squads held an exhibition on November 5, 2011 and the Tigers won 68-35. Current Royals assistant coach Dan Bailey was on the team that year and scored nine points and grabbed six rebounds against the Tigers.

QUEENS ATHLETICS UNVEILS NEW BRANDING

The Royals are in their second year in NCAA Division I and have built excitement around the 2023-24 season by launching a new branding initiative over the summer that continues to elevate its reputation of excellence.

The first sign of the new branding, an updated graphic featuring Queens mascot Rex the Lion, appeared on the newly refinished courts of Curry Arena, home of Queens basketball, volleyball, and wrestling. The court was revealed to the public on June 5, 2023.

The new branding captured the program's legacy while still propelling its Athletics forward and reflecting the university's new status as a Division I competitor.

The new Athletics marks incorporated variations that will allow Queens Athletics to be distinctive across collegiate athletics, bringing new energy to its brand. The marks will be seen across a variety of Athletics-related items including uniforms, signage, graphics, and more.

The new marks also make use of the acronym "QUC," and uses a naming variation — "Queens University Charlotte" — to be used by the Athletics program. The branding also includes a unique new font to be featured on Athletics uniforms and bold elements such as eye-catching colors, including an Athletics-specific Royal Blue.

The Athletics rebrand coincided with a new institutional branding initiative for Queens University, which was rolled out in March. It also coincides with the 35th anniversary of intercollegiate, co-ed athletics and the 10th anniversary of the Levine Center for Wellness and Recreation, home of Curry Arena.

Grant Leonard was promoted to head men's basketball in Spring 2022. Leonard, who has been coaching for 18 years, joined the Royals in 2013 and has served as associate head men's basketball coach since 2016. He is the sixth head coach in Queens men's basketball history.

Leonard has been a key component to the Royals' success on the court for nearly a decade as Queens has posted a 231-77 record and an impressive .750 winning percentage with Leonard on staff. The Royals were nationally ranked in the top 25 in 111 of 112 polls (NABC or D2SIDA) dating back to November 2015. Additionally, they reached the top 10 in each of their last seven seasons in Division 2 peaking at No. 1 in January of 2018.

Recording a winning streak of eight or more games in eight of the last nine seasons with a program-record 17-game winning streak in 2021, the Royals made seven consecutive D2 NCAA Championship appearances. They completed the 2021-22 season reaching the Sweet 16 for the fourth time in the past six seasons which included the COVID-interrupted 2019-20 season. Queens also recorded its fourth 30-plus win season in such time.

Queens won the 2018 and 2019 Southeast Regional Championships to advance to the Elite 8 in back-to-back seasons, advancing to the national semifinals in 2018. Leonard also helped the Royals secure three regular season titles and two conference tournament titles after finishing in the top two for eight consecutive seasons in South Atlantic Conference play.

In addition to serving as associate head coach for the Royals, Leonard has been the head coach and general manager for Team D2 which has competed in The Basketball Tournament (TBT) since the summer of 2019. TBT is a single elimination, 64-team tournament that has a grand prize of over one million dollars. Leonard's teams have been comprised of former D2 players who are now competing at the professional level, and they have made it to the round of 32 or better all three seasons.

Leonard has also been instrumental in recruitment and player development for the Royals over the years. Twenty-five Queens alumni have played professional basketball in the past 10 seasons. Additionally, three have been named NABC All-Americans and 10 have earned all-region and all-conference first-team honors.

During his collegiate coaching career, Leonard has worked at five schools and in all three divisions of NCAA competition. He came to Queens from Paine College (2011-2013) where he served as first assistant coach, recruiting coordinator, director of skill development, and defensive specialist. In his first of two years at Paine, the Lions achieved their first winning season in seven years and finished second nationally in Division 2 with seven blocks per game. Leonard also worked as an academic advisor for student-athletes and an adjunct professor while at Paine.

Leonard's previous coaching stops include Flagler College (2009-2010), the University of Texas-Pan American (2006-2009), and Washington College (2005-2006). In his lone season at Flagler, the Saints accumulated more Peach Belt Conference victories than at any other point during the program's tenure in the league at the time. Texas Pan-American saw similar success with an increase in total wins during each of Leonard's three years with the team. At Washington, Leonard helped head coach Rob Nugent record a career-high 14 wins and his first-ever conference tournament victory.

Leonard graduated Cum Laude from William Penn University in Oskaloosa, Iowa, in 2004, with a bachelor's degree in psychology. He was a two-time Daktronics Academic All-Region Player as well as a two-time Midwest Classic Academic All-Conference Player with the Statesmen. He also holds a master's degree in psychology from Washington College.

Leonard and his wife Haley, a Charlotte native and math teacher in the CMS school district, both reside in Belmont.
