Jim Boeheim Day

Saturday, February 24, was proclaimed Jim Boeheim Day in the City of Syracuse, Onondaga County, the state of New York and in the JMA Wireless Dome, where the Hall of Fame coach was celebrated following Syracuse's game with Notre Dame.

Boeheim, a native of Lyons, N.Y., first came to Syracuse University in 1962 when he enrolled as a student and joined the basketball program as a walk-on. He eventually earned a scholarship and played a part in the revitalization of the program. The 1965-66 team, which featured Boeheim and fellow senior Dave Bing, earned an NCAA Tournament invitation.

After earning his undergraduate degree in social science, Boeheim played semi-pro basketball for Scranton in the Eastern League. He maintained a connection to his alma mater as a graduate assistant coach. In addition to earning his master's degree, he coached the freshman basketball and became head golf coach.

In 1972, Boeheim was promoted to a full-time assistant coaching post on the staff of Roy Danforth. The Orange started a run of NCAA Tournament berths and reached the program's first Final Four in 1974-75.

Danforth left Syracuse in 1976 for the head coaching position at Tulane and Boeheim was named his successor. Success came immediately as Boeheim guided the Orange to a 100-18 (.847) record and four NCAA Tournaments in his first four seasons at the helm.

Syracuse became one of the founding schools in the BIG EAST Conference, which began play in 1979-80. Boeheim had the Orange positioned near the top of the league from the start. Syracuse won 10 BIG EAST titles and five BIG EAST Tournament Championships. Boeheim is still the winningest coach in BIG EAST Conference history.

In addition to BIG EAST Conference supremacy, the Orange became a regular in the NCAA postseason. Boeheim guided Syracuse to the NCAA Championship game in 1987 and 1996, and in 2003 the Orange won the program's first national championship. Boeheim coached his club back into the Final Four in 2013.

Syracuse joined the Atlantic Coast Conference prior to the 2013-14 and the winning continued. Boeheim had the Orange in the Final Four one more time, in 2016.

Boeheim announced his retirement at the end of the 2022-23 season, ending a remarkable 47-year tenure as head coach at his alma mater.

He accumulated a number of staggering accomplishments during his time:

- ✓ Boeheim was inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in 2005;
- ✓ He was presented with the Wooden Legends of Coaching Award in 2006;
- ✓ He was named the 2010 Coach of the Year by the Associated Press (AP), Naismith Award, National Association of Basketball Coaches (NABC), Sporting News, United States Basketball Writers of America (USBWA) and Yahoo!sports.com;
- ✓ He remains the second winningest coach in Division I history, trailing only Duke's Mike Krzyzewski;
- ✓ He guided Syracuse into 35 NCAA Tournaments and seven berths in the National Invitation Tournament.
- ✓ Only Krzyzewski had more 20-win teams and more games coached.
- ✓ Boeheim's 47-year run as head coach at one school (Syracuse) has only been exceeded by Jim Phalen, who guided the Mt. St. Mary's program for 49 years.
- ✓ He is one of three basketball figures (along with Dave Bing and Pearl Washington) on Syracuse's Ring of Honor.
- ✓ Boeheim received the Syracuse University Letter of Distinction honor in 1988.

Bing Joins Syracuse Ring Of Honor

Syracuse University Athletics added Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame member Dave Bing '66 to its Ring of Honor at the JMA Wireless Dome on Saturday, Jan. 27, 2024, when the Orange hosted NC State.

Bing enrolled at Syracuse University in 1962 and became part of a basketball resurgence. In 1963-64, his first campaign with the varsity, Bing helped the Orange to a 17-8 record and a berth in the National Invitational Tournament (NIT).

As a senior, Bing led Syracuse to its first NCAA Tournament appearance since 1956-57. He keyed a lineup that combined to average a school-record 99.0 points per game. The Orange defeated Davidson in a first-round NCAA matchup before losing at second-ranked Duke, 91-81. Coach Fred Lewis directed Syracuse to a 22-6 mark and Bing averaged 28.4 points an outing. Bing earned consensus All-America honors.

He was the second overall pick in the 1966 draft by the Detroit Pistons and the 1967 NBA Rookie of the Year. He played 12 seasons and was an eight-time NBA All-Star.

Bing was inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in 1990. Six years later, in 1996, Bing was named one of the 50 Greatest Players in NBA History. The NBA 75th Anniversary team, selected in 2021, also featured Bing.

He founded The Bing Group, a Detroit Automotive Supply Company, and served as president and chairman from 1980 through 2006. He was honored by President Ronald Reagan with the Minority Small Business Person of the Year Award.

He received the George Arents Award from Syracuse University in 1994. It is the University's highest alumni honor. Bing has earned honorary doctorate degrees from Kettering University, Syracuse University, and the University of Michigan.

Bing was elected Mayor of Detroit on May 5, 2009, and served until January 2014.

Syracuse Ring of Honor

Bing joined Jim Boeheim, Jim Brown, Ernie Davis, Floyd Little, Ben Schwartzwalder, Roy Simmons Jr., and Dwayne "Pearl" Washington as a member of the Ring of Honor. Each honoree's name is displayed in the JMA Wireless Dome.

Hardwood Club Honors Pete Sala

Pete Sala

The Syracuse University Men's Basketball Hardwood Club presented the Vic Hanson Medal of Excellence to Peter Sala, Vice President and Chief Facilities Officer at Syracuse University, prior to the February 27 game with Virginia Tech.

The honor is bestowed on an individual or individuals who have ties to the men's basketball program and have made outstanding contributions to college basketball.

"The Hardwood Club recognizes all that Peter Sala has done and continues to do in support of the Men's Basketball Program and Syracuse University in general," said Ronald Szyjowski, president of the Hardwood Club. "In addition to hosting thousands and thousands of fans at hundreds and hundreds of games, his work and leadership at the Dome has supported student-athlete practices and countless other activities."

Sala was first associated with Syracuse's Dome in 1982 as a production assistant. He advanced through the ranks to production manager in 1988 and then operations manager in 1991.

He became assistant director of facilities operations for the Dome in 1991 and in 2005 Sala was promoted to associate director of athletics facilities. Five years later, Sala was named managing director of the Dome.

Sala also served as the interim director of athletics for five months in 2015.

In June of 2015, Chancellor Kent Syverud announced his appointment of Sala as vice president and chief campus facilities officer. In addition to heading up all operations at the Dome, Sala's new post included oversight of campus departments for Campus Planning, Design and Construction, Business and Facilities and Maintenance Services, Physical Plant, Housing and Food Services Maintenance, and Energy Systems & Sustainability Management.

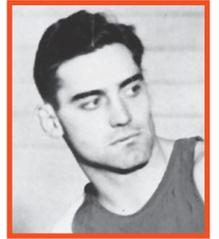

His Dome responsibilities have included managing all aspects of the day-to-day operations of the facility. Sala oversees the coordination and scheduling of events, managing the box office, maintaining the budget and directing all necessary building maintenance.

He is the construction manager for all athletics facility upgrades and new building projects.

Sala played a key role in the many recent upgrades that have been made at what is now the JMA Wireless Dome.

He is a 1979 graduate of Jamesville-DeWitt High School. He attended Morrisville College and later the University of Massachusetts, where he completed a program in turf management.
