The Pete Frates Center is the home of Boston College Softball. The 31,000-square foot indoor baseball and softball facility features locker rooms, hitting tunnels, indoor turf field, strength and conditioning space, and a hospitality area. It is located adjacent at the Harrington Athletics Village, which opened in 2018.

Frates was diagnosed with amyotrophic lateral sclerosis (ALS) at age 27, and was a leader in the fight for a cure since 2012, most notably through his role as the inspiration for the Ice Bucket Challenge campaign in 2014.

The center provide student-athletes with a space to practice and train year-round, and includes sports medicine areas for treatment and recovery, as well as seven hitting tunnels with retractable cages, and space for a full-team practice on a turf surface.
